

Feel the Force Day returns, larger than ever

Feel the Force Day, the world's first and only fully accessible Film and TV Convention (Comic-con), returns for 2019 with their biggest event yet!

Feel the Force Day XL opens its doors at 11 am on Saturday 5th October at a new venue, the East of England Arena in Peterborough.

In previous years the event welcomed 7,000 people through its doors, and this year's event promises to be bigger and better than ever before. The new venue will host a marketplace where film and TV memorabilia, clothing, jewellery and a variety of collectibles can be purchased. Displays will also include vintage cars, a giant Stay Puft marshmallow man, as featured in the classic Ghostbusters and a real DeLorean, as featured in the Back to the Future trilogy.

The organisers, Simon Howard and JJ Lucia-Wright, work tirelessly with their team of volunteers to ensure the event is accessible to everyone, and the event at the Showground will be no different. Performances on the day will be signed using British Sign Language (BSL), there will be extra space for people with mobility requirements and all displays will be tactile.

Ticket holders will have the opportunity to meet celebrities, including Sophie Aldred (Dr Who), Shiela Reid (Benidorm), Mike Fielding (The Mighty Boosh) and many, many more.

Tickets are available from feeltheforceday.com and are priced from £7.50 each. This year for the first time guests may purchase a ticket for the After Party and dance the night away with costumers and celebrities to music from three live bands.

For further information please visit www.feeltheforceday.com.

ENDS